

Sound Coinage A Must The Importance Of Intrinsic Valued Coinage

ONE hundred years ago there was a shortage of coins in the United States. The country was in the midst of a Civil War. The circulating media was the most unusual to be used in this country prior or since.

Here are some of the things you could find used as money one hundred years ago: "Civil War tokens" — coins made in imitation of the contemporary Indian head cents; encased postage stamps; fractional currency; scrip; banknotes of barely solvent banks; various tokens; Confederate and state issued currency and if you were lucky, U.S. coins.

The shortage of money was so critical in the South it was said a label from an olive bottle could pass for currency because it was "greasy, smelled bad, and had a signature on it."

Worst of all was the pressing need for small change. The price of copper had risen in the later 1850's. The government attempted to solve it's resulting coinage problem by reducing the size of the old "coppers" or large cents.

In 1856 the first patterns for a small cent coinage occurred. A year later, 1857, the last of the large cents were struck as the first issue of the ill-fated Flying eagle cents were minted.

Copper-nickel Indian cents were made in 1859. But as the cents were poured into circulation by the government, they disappeared just as fast as they were minted.

* * *

The present day shortage of coins reflects the same problem of the 1860's. Yet today we have peaceful prosperity and boom times not a war time economy. Still there is a shortage of coins today.

The Treasury is wrestling with the problem as the Senate Banking Committee met last week in the first of what appears to be many hearings on the coin shortage problem.

Is the Treasury looking for a substitute for coins? If so they can find a history book full of ideas — mostly ill-fated.

What happened in 1860 when the American public did not have minor coins to spend? They made their own.

Indian head cents actually brought a premium in the early 1860's. The price of copper was high. To make up for the lack of a circulating medium, merchants, organizations and private individuals issued tokens known as "copper-heads."

The tokens were the same size as government issued cents. Many varieties carried a design in open imitation of the Indian head design. The reverse often carried inscriptions like "not one cent."

The tokens were of mixed metals, frequently alloyed as brass, nickel, white metal, lead, zinc, tin; some even struck in silver.

They carried names of the issuing firms or people — miniature advertisements. Over 20 million were estimated struck and circulated in the four year period of the Civil War, and represented one of the few periods when the people made their own money.

* * *

Encased postage stamps was the proposed answer to the problem of a shortage of coins by John Gault of Boston. He placed U.S. postage stamps in a brass case with a mica cover to save the wear and tear on the stamps.

He patented the idea in 1862 and sold advertising on the reverse in brass. While the stamp discs did circulate for a short time they were replaced by fractional currency.

The first fractional currency resembled stamps more than currency. They pictured five ten-cent stamps on a 50c note for example, and had perforations around the edges.

Following issues eliminated the perforations and changed the design to resemble currency more than stamps, but for all the innovations they failed to provide an adequate substitute for coins.

Ironically, however, the United States still honors fractional currency; it is still redeemable 100 years later at full face value.

* * *

Paper money also took many forms a century ago. Broken bank notes were just about on their way out — replaced by "greenbacks" — paper with national backing issued by the government.

Imagine today if every bank in the country were allowed to issue its own paper money! The confusion was just as hectic then. It was further confused by the scrip issued by states, cities, railroads, business firms, mines, and even colleges.

Circulating United States coins were a rarity during the Civil War as the bad money drove the good money out of circulation—the basis of Gresham's law in a nationwide laboratory test of this economic principle.

* * *

Substitution for coins has taken many forms in many ways throughout the history of man. A branch of numismatics deals with "siege coins" — coins struck often times of unusual metal or dies while the issuing authority is under siege.

* * *

Another branch is devoted to cut and counterstamped coins. These are frequently found in the West Indies and other countries in the Western hemisphere Colonies cut off from the mother country frequently feel the shortage of coins. By stamping any available coin they can get their hands on, with a punch with some kind of seal on it, colonists have frequently created their own distinctive coins.

Cut coins are a similar device. A Spanish pillar dollar — divided in halves, quarters, and eighths or bits — provided small change for many West Indies trader. The expression two bits comes from this practice.

Our own American colonists faced terrific shortages of coins two centuries ago. Not only English coins circulated, but also coins of Spain, France and other European countries — when available.

Too much of the early American trade was done in barter, for the lack of an adequate circulating media.

Almost every depression causes some new kind of provisional money to be issued. In 1907 clearing house receipts circulated. In 1933 depression scrip, and ultimately sales tax tokens.

* * *

In 1942 the United States faced a critical problem of metal for coins. Experiments were conducted for a substitute for copper in cents, then a critical war metal.

A plastic cent was even considered and a pattern 1942 cent in plastic is known. The solution was, of course, to substitute the bronze cent with the zinc coated steel cent. These were struck in one year, 1943.

Two years later nickel was removed from our five cent coins; replaced by silver-copper-manganese alloy which are being melted today for the silver content.

The moral of all this is pretty plain. In 2,000 years of coinage history there really is no substitute for coins of proper content.

With the exception of nickel introduced less than 100 years ago, successful coins have always been made in gold, silver, and copper. Any substitutes seem doomed to ill fate.

Bankers Attempt To Bludgeon President

A Speech By Wright Patman

We feel that this speech should be of interest to all coin investors and collectors.

—Ed.

Blackmail is one of the foulest offenses known to man. It is indeed shocking to read accounts of ordinary citizens being blackmailed but far more shocking to learn of blackmail threats made against our leaders and the American people.

I feel it is my duty, Mr. Speaker to point out to this body and the American people that two of our most respected and leading newspapers, the New York Times and the Wall Street Journal, recently reported that certain banking interests are trying to blackmail the President of the United States and the public. The Wall Street Journal identifies the "blackmailers" as the American Bankers Association, a group which I characterized last August 3 on this floor as a pressure group as "ugly as any lobby in existence."

Some people feel my criticism of the ABA was too severe. But I am certain after I finish here today that those people will now realize that my description of the big banker's lobby was entirely accurate and even on the mild side.

The ABA, true to tradition, has wasted no time in the 89th Congress to move to hogtie, hornswaggle, blackmail, and blackmail the President, the Congress, and the American people.

What I am about to relate is merely the latest of the many arrogant and self-seeking maneuvers of the ABA. It concerns itself specifically with the U. S. balance of payments and "gold cover" problems.

The New York Times of January 8 reported: "... the banking community may condition its support for modification of the gold requirement on assurances from the Johnson Administration that it will resist proposals by Representative Wright Patman, Democrat of Texas, to reduce greatly the independence of the Federal Reserve System."

Furthermore, the front page of the Wall Street Journal of January 15 put the finger on the actual ringleaders by reporting that: "American Bankers Association officials agree the freeze of gold for currency backing should be thawed — if the Administration stresses keeping the dollar sound, honoring Federal Reserve independence."

There can be no other interpretation of these two reports. The ABA is saying to the President and to the Congress that ABA will support a modification of the gold reserve requirement only if the President and the Administration refuse to support the legislation introduced to coordinate the activities of the Federal Reserve Board with the economic policies and programs of the President.

I use the word "blackmail," Mr. Speaker, because there is no other word at my command which more aptly describes this disgraceful conduct.

There can be no doubt that the United States currently has a serious balance of payments problem which is causing substantial drains on our gold reserves. As we all know, gold serves as a reserve for Federal Reserve notes and deposits of commercial banks held by the Federal Reserve System. If we suffer from excessive balance of payments deficits and have to continue paying off such deficits with our gold supply, it means that we may find it necessary to once more reduce the gold cover requirements as we have in the past.

It is precisely this proposal that the ABA says it will support but only if the Administration and the Congress will knuckle under and refuse to approve vital Federal Reserve legislation to assure coordination of monetary and fiscal policy.

Of course the gold cover problem has no direct relation to reform of the Federal Reserve System — except in the selfish scheming of the bankers' lobby. The gold cover problem is simply one of technical legal requirements that can be resolved easily without any harmful effect whatsoever on our monetary system. The Administration is now working on legislation to deal with the question, and I have no fear about maintaining stability of the dollar.

I am much more concerned about our persistent balance of payments problem and the harmful and misguided "remedies" that the ABA and the Federal Reserve Board are palming off on the Nation.

I am informed that the last quarter of 1964 will show that gold and dollars have been leaving the United States at an annual rate of $5 billion. If this is so, this deficit will be the largest dollar and gold loss we have suffered since the second quarter of 1963.

It was the large payments deficit of 1963 that led to a drive by the big bankers who dominate the Federal Reserve System and the ABA to tighten credit and substantially raise short-term interest rates.

Tightening credit and raising interest rates never in our history or in the history of any modern industrial economy have solved the balance of payments problem. You don't cure a bloody nose with a tourniquet around the neck. The facts are clear and obvious. Short-term interest rates on Federal issues have risen 900% since 1946, and the current excuse for raising short-term rates even higher is that we need to do it for balance of payments reasons.

How many times, Mr. Speaker, are the American people going to be forced to swallow this monetary moonshine? In 1962, 91-day Treasury bills carried a rate of 2.778% and by the last quarter of 1963 this rate had increased to 3.523%. Currently the rate on this class of public debt is better than 3.8% and yet the balance of payments problem continues more severe than in the past. How then, I ask, can raising short-term interest rates solve our balance of payments problems?

Let me put this matter in more understandable perspective. Between 1946 and 1964 the interest rate on 91-day Treasury bills increased by 900 percent. From the end of 1963 to the present, the interest rate on this class of government security has increased more than 20 percent. And yet our balance of payments problem still persists — indeed the problem is more severe.

What if we had the same degree of increase in prices of consumer commodities over the same time period? We would have experienced a period of inflation which would certainly rival that experienced by Germany after World War I, or communist China after World War II.

Take the example of a pair of shoes. In 1946 a man could buy a respectable pair of shoes for five dollars. Currently this five dollar pair of shoes would cost about $9.90. But if the price of shoes had increased between 1946 and the present as has the increase in interest costs on 91-day Treasury bills — this pair of shoes would now cost $89.10. Consider that during the war, the short-term rate was 1/8 of one percent for a time. If motor cars had increased as much as interest rates an automobile which now costs about $2,500 would cost $30,000. This is an example which the American people can understand.

The attempt to make such subjects as monetary policy, balance of payments and so forth, difficult to understand is the reason why the American people have not voiced their feelings on these subjects. If they were properly communicated with on these subjects, I am sure they would no more tolerate a nine hundred percent increase in the cost of financing 91-day bills over an 18 year period than they would tolerate a nine hundred percent increase in price of a pair of shoes over the same period of time.

I have said it before and I say it again, raising interest rates at this time when we still have high levels of unemployment and unused industrial capacity is a tragic error. It will not solve our balance of payments problems but it will, as sure as I stand here, accentuate existing unemployment and poverty in the United States. If this is allowed to happen, then more capital will go elsewhere and our balance of payments problem will be worsened.

What are the reasons for our balance of payments problems? Certainly a major one is that private industry and the banking community — those handful of banks that are large enough to engage in foreign transactions — are making substantial private dollar loans and equity investments in foreign countries. Our problem also is accentuated by the fact that there very recently have been several substantial loans floated by either foreign governments or international lending agencies in the United States.

Contrary to the high interest fallacy this balance of payments problem can best be solved by maintaining low interest rates and an adequate money supply so that the productivity of our economy can be fully utilized and enable us to compete with world markets. Our immediate balance of payments problem can also be solved by direct intervention into those specific activities which are causing the problem. In this particular instance the President should exert his authority and close the loop-hole in the interest equalization tax and make it apply to foreign loans made by United States banks.

This is how outrageous the situation is. The ABA hierarchy — engaging in broad daylight blackmail and hold-up tactics—in effect is saying this to us: Allow the handful of banks to continue to make foreign loans. We, the ABA, will go along with reducing the gold reserve requirements so that we can create more money to lend and on which we will make an interest return. In other words, the big banks are in large part responsible for creating the balance of payments problem and the gold reserve problem, but here they are telling us that the blame rests some place else. Magnanimous are we, say the ABA, so we will help you solve your problem. But the quid pro quo, they tell us, is for the Administration to make sure the Federal Reserve monetary reform bill is killed. This is truly a classic example of sending the goose to guard the shelled corn.

The best estimates indicate that we have a chronic hard-core balance of payments deficit of around $2.5 billion. Of this amount better than a billion dollars of it is brought about by the foreign loans of a handful of United States banks.

I say again the solution to this problem is not to raise interest rates. The solution does not lie in this direction at all. Rather it lies in the direction of direct intervention as I have indicated above and creating the environment in which the fruits of increasing American production and productivity can be used to maintain our position in world trade and a climate attractive to capital investment. To demand, as the ABA is doing, that they will trade off with the Administration and the President a gold bill for Federal Reserve independence is both immoral and dishonest.

This whole matter is personally

1965 B. U. CANADIAN COINAGE

Canadian coinage for 1965 promises to be the best yet.
The obverse of all coins has been changed and now portrays a more mature image of Queen Elizabeth. We have seen Canadian coinage become scarce and prices rise in the years 1963 and 1964. We suggest that you order now while our prices are low. Again we offer our Layway Plan for easy financing.

WHY ORDER FROM THE DOWDS?

As the largest Canadian dealers in the States, we offer you a stock that is located in the States. When you order from us, there is no prolonged period of waiting for your merchandise to clear Customs, therefore no Customs fees. Also you do not have to take the risk of having your mint sealed bag opened at the borders.

In the long run it is cheaper and safer to become another one of the Dowds' satisfied clients.

Canadians please note our Canadian address. When shipping to our Canadian customers, we ship either Parcel Post or Rail Express from Montreal, again avoiding shipping between the countries.

Folks . . .

My customers have started to tell me vigorously and enthusiastically — through the number and size of their orders — that the coin business is red-hot again.

For more than a year, we — through our ads — defined the silver dollar market and led the way. Now, for the past several months we have stood aside while other dealers touted their wares. With the writing of this column, I wish to make it perfectly clear that at this moment we have every intention of resuming our leadership again, as of now.

It is worthy of note that while we are just now ending the worst slump I have seen in many years in the business, truly rare coins are today selling for more than when the slump began last summer. This is especially true of the rarer BU and proof $1.00.

Today, I am a buyer of choice coins and collections. However, I dare say that as a buyer, I have more choice material than most dealers can offer. Try me!

Best,

"Shotgun"

BU DOLLAR SPECIAL

During several years in the dollar business, I have at most had a handful each of BU 1883-S and 1884-S dollars. I think they are very scarce. Last week I bought one roll each of these dates, strictly BU. Better act while they are available!

1883-S	$1.00	BU	$21.00	BU select	$26.50
1884-S	$1.00	BU	27.50	BU select	35.00

BUY — BU ROLLS — SELL Key Dates

Below are listed prices for certain popular rolls. I will always buy these dates of rolls, either one at a time or in large quantities. My prices are pretty firm, but occasionally subject to some minor fluctuation as the market changes.

All prices are for strictly BU rolls, of course. Inferior rolls are worth less money. Oh yes, I'm in the market to buy most other dates, of course.

SILVER DOL

1895 PROOF DOLLARS

No. 1. A superb flawless brilliant gem proof. This specimen is as brilliant as the day it was struck, and totally free of all blemishes and hairlines of every sort. Truly immaculate.

$5350.00

No. 2. A second specimen, absolutely uncirculated and totally free of wear. Unfortunately, some clod used an eraser or other mild abrasive to clean the coin, and the beautiful proof surface is quite badly hairlined. A considerable portion of the original proof surface remains, however, and there are no bag marks or other imperfections. Needless to say, the piece is unquestionably genuine.

LLAR RARITIES

1893-S BU DOLLAR

Only once in my experience as a dealer have I seen an 1893-S dollar equal to or better than this, and it had been purchased from B. Max Mehl many years ago. This piece is from my personal set. It is a frosty BU coin, very nicely struck, with full sharp breast feathers and hair detail. Bag marks are at a very minimum, and those few are so fine and tiny as to go unnoticed. Your inspection is invited!

$4950.00

1880 over 79-CC BU GEM DOLLAR

This rare piece is outstanding in two respects. First, it is the finest, most perfect, blemish-free BU 1880-CC dollar I have ever seen. Second, it is the sharpest example of an over-date I have seen. The entire figure 7 is visible beneath the figure 8, and parts of the figure 9 can be detected in 3 places beneath the figure 0. Magnifique!

Space City Averages:

HOW THEY ARE OBTAINED

With close to 1,500 separate statistics appearing each week in PACE, a need exists to express this information in graphic form for busy readers.

We are currently charting eight different coin series each week as you see below. These charts are based on Space City Averages, an arbitrarily chosen group of rolls which we feel are representative of the total for that series.

To be included in the Space City Averages rolls are chosen on the basis of three factors: (1) their trading is constant, (2) they are widely held, and (3) they are indicative of the series.

It is obvious infrequently traded items, closely held items, and extremes in the series would not serve this purpose.

Each week the statistical staff of PACE prepares these averages from the information obtained on The United States Coin Exchange transactions.

The amount expressed in the Space City averages is the total market bid prices for the rolls included in the averages. This is a dollar figure and is compared with previous week, month, and year figures for analysis.

The high and low for 1964 is also shown.

MARKET SUMMARY

February 24, 1965

by Richard Pevey

Our staff writer, Russell Brown, who normally appears in this column, is devoting all of his time to another Pace activity for the next few weeks.

THE market showed a slight gain this week with two series recording new yearly highs. Lincoln cents rose two dollars increasing its yearly high to $1,579.00 and Franklin halves gained four dollars raising its yearly high to $2,225.00. All other series remained unchanged except Jefferson nickels which lost eight dollars and Proof Sets which lost one dollar and seventy five cents. Most of the trading this week took place in the Jefferson nickel and Franklin half series. There were many offers to buy these rolls but no large price movement took place. Rolls were bought and sold in small quantities of usually one to five rolls.

The largest gain in Lincoln cents this week was recorded by the 1936-S which rose two dollars. Four transactions forced the 1960-P Small Date roll down five dollars. The rest of this weeks changes were one dollar increases or declines.

Jefferson nickels were led by the 1942-S roll gaining eight dollars and the 1945-P roll gaining seven dollars. Five dollar increases were posted by the 1938-P and 1942-P rolls. The 1950-D KING was forced down five dollars along with the 1938-D roll. There were a lot of dealers buying rolls of war nickels but they were specifying BU rolls only. Some BU half rolls and singles were traded. The complete sets of Jeff. nickels also took a slight rise this week with the BU set moving up two dollars followed by the average circulated set with an increase of one dollar.

Dimes saw very little activity this week. The largest change was an increase by the 1954-S roll of three dollars. All other changes were two dollars or less. The over all average remained unchanged from last week.

Washington quarters closed mixed with one increase and two decreases the largest being a two dollar decline by the 1958-P roll. This series like dimes suffered from lack of trading, however the average remained unchanged. Most transactions that took place were single roll purchases.

Franklin half dollars led the market in volume this week. The 1948-P roll moved up eight dollars followed by the 1949-S roll showing an increase of five dollars. Two dollar gains were posted by the 1948-D and 1953-P rolls. Three dollar declines were recorded by 1950-D and 1956-P rolls. Advances equaled declines and the average reached a new high of $2,225.00.

Morgan dollars and Peace dollars were quiet this week. A lot of trading took place with quality single coins. Some circulated single coins were in demand. One sale caused a $100.00 increase in the 1879-CC roll making it a $2,700.00 roll. The 1891-O rose ten dollars and the 1925-S increased five dollars. None of these changes affected the averages which will remain the same as last weeks.

Proof Sets declined a small amount due to lack of trading. A decline of one dollar and seventy five cents in a $2,700.00 series is rather inconsequential. Especially since the largest change was one dollar.

There was not much activity in the circulated roll market. There was a small decline in nickels and a small rise in dimes, quarters, and halves.

Canadian Proof-Like sets moved upward led by a two dollar gain on the 1957 set. The 1964 set declined twenty five cents with heavy trading.

The Market Opinion

For the past few weeks the market has shown light trading with dealers buying in small quantities. This has in most cases caused a slow and steady market increase indicating that most dealers are buying for store stock or customer resale. This type of buying creates a firm market.

There are a number of dealers which have their likes and dislikes when it comes to circulated rolls. These dealers support their beliefs strongly over the teletype and very few bargains are found there as a result. Low offers for circulated rolls are quickly purchased by the dealer of that choice especially dime, quarter, and half dollar rolls. As of late we have noticed a few dealers purchasing quantities of circulated Lincoln cents. Interest in the circ. roll market has been on the increase since before the first of the year. For the most part buying prices have not risen sharply but they have slowly increased and volume has been heavy.

BU Roll Prices as of Wednesday, February 24, 1965

These bid and asked prices, from the United States Coin Exchange Inc., do not necessarily represent actual transactions. They are a guide to the range within which these coins could have been sold (indicated by the "bid") or bought (indicated by the "asked") at the time of compilation. Price changes are obtained by comparison of weekly bid prices.

Prices are wholesale quotations compiled from the United States Coin Exchange teletype system which serves 285 coin dealers across the country.

repulsive to me, Mr. Speaker, as I am sure it is to all other Members of the Congress and the Administration. It is beyond my reason and belief that this arrogant and brazen group can succeed in their attempted deception.

I have made reference to the Federal Reserve reform bill in my address, Mr. Speaker. Legislation to accomplish these reforms has been introduced as H.R. 11. I shall at a subsequent time address this body on this most vital subject.

THE NEW NUMISCOPE

If you are looking for scarce and key coins you need NUMISCOPE!

NUMISCOPE lets you see both sides of the same coin simultaneously... counts and wraps unwanted coins for you... saves your eyes and nerves... speeds up checking. With ordinary speed you'll check 1,300 coins per hour (minimum) depending on what you are looking for. Unwanted coins are dropped into a wrapper and counted without any effort. Wanted coins are dropped into a chute. You remove and place them in trays that come with NUMISCOPE: 3 trays, one for each Mint.

NOW each tray covers 60 years starting at 1911 and holds 3,000 coins. Made of extra strong aluminum — not stamped or plastic.

NUMISCOPE is the complete and original viewer. Built like a cash register... cast aluminum throughout... beautifully wrinkle finished in black, platinum grey or hammered green. Write for FREE brochure today!

Western Coin Exchange (RJR, Inc.)

Complete, ready to operate. Low cost — less than most typewriters. Worth its weight in rare coins.

RARE 1964 DIME VARIETY

YOU'RE STARING
at the FUTURE!

Remember the 1960 Small Dates and the 1955 Double die cent, they sold for less than the now popular Pointed Tail 9 dimes. Look at what they sell for now: $400 for a roll of 1960-P Small Date and $300 for one 1955 DD. Now, while they're young and cheap, the Rare 1964 Pointed tail 9 Dimes BU sets in holder, 1964-P pointed tail 9 and 1964-P blunt tail 9, only $2.00 a set. Order 3 sets for $5.00.

The 1964-D pointed tail 9 and 1964-D blunt tail 9, BU sets in holder, only $1.00 a set. Order 3 sets for $2.50.

We feel the Pointed tail 9 dimes to be rare, less than 2,000,000 mixed with over 400,000,000 and they're still making more Blunts!

INVESTORS ROLL SPECIAL!

One roll 1964-P pointed tail 9 dimes	$75.00	One roll 1964-D pointed tail dimes	40.00
5 rolls	325.00	5 rolls	155.00
10 rolls	600.00	10 rolls	280.00

The Blunt tail 9 is common, we won't offer these, however with each order of any ten rolls we will ship a roll of Blunts Free! The 1964 Proof sets also have this popular variety, so it's no fluke or one die variety. Remember, the Small Date 1960 exists in P-D mintage and the proof sets. The pointed tail 9 also exists in P-D and 1964 proof sets! The combination and pattern is here, get on the ground floor!

We have a good retail coin trade here, so if you have any worth while items to trade for my Pointed tail 9 dimes, please make trade offers.

1964 Proof Set, pointed tail 9 dime	$40.00
1964 Proof Set, blunt tail 9 dime	18.50
Order both sets for $55.00 — Order 5 Sets of each variety, only $200.00.

This New Variety Will Be Listed in the Next Edition of the Major Variety-Oddity Guide of U.S. Coins!
